2016 - 2017 REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY
Celebrating 102 Years of Performing Arts
Dear Palace Theatre Supporters

The Palace Theatre is pleased to present the 2016-2017 report to the community. 2016-2017 was another successful year for this historic theater as we continue to thrive both financially and providing a growing program of performances and services.

The Palace remains as an important economic generator for the state, city and downtown Manchester. It provides significant arts, theatre and cultural opportunities to over 146,000 patrons from areas throughout New Hampshire and beyond.

The foresight and leadership of our Trustees have given us the ability to constantly improve this historic landmark and its facilities. Again this year, we promise to maintain sustainable operations and continue to restore the physical integrity of this beautiful, historic 102 year old theatre, in addition to keeping our programming alive and relevant to our patrons. We would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank our several hundred volunteers and the thousands of patrons who pass through our doors annually. Our capacity to stay open is due to the immeasurable value of the on-going dedication of our volunteers and staff, as well as the loyalty of our patrons. Our theatre would be dark and our seats vacant without the commitment of the many professionals and community members who have performed on our stage and supported our efforts with their time, talents and passions.

Sincerely,

THE PALACE THEATRE STAFF
Our Mission

The mission of the Palace Theatre Trust is to enrich the region’s cultural life and serve as a community resource through its stewardship of the historic Palace Theatre. It is committed to achieving its mission through preserving the historic facility, responding creatively to the cultural and entertainment needs of the community, and governing in a fiscally responsible and strategic manner.

Youth Theatre

The Palace Theatre is firmly committed to strengthening access to theatre, with particular attention paid to reaching under-served youth. With its multiple resources of artistic staff, actors and the 834-seat venue itself, the Palace Theatre is a leader in the community in the number of children who are served by professionally-led arts programming in Manchester and beyond. It is the caliber and quality of the Palace Theatre’s full roster of professional theatre personnel on staff that makes all six of its youth theatre initiatives so successful. All provide a gateway for young children and young adults into the world of musical theatre and together they represent a comprehensive approach to serving a variety of populations.

The Centennial

Hitting a milestone is time to reflect and celebrate. At the Palace Theatre, a year of festivities celebrated the theatre’s centennial anniversary. Having survived the advent of movies and television, a flood, a fire and rumors of being haunted, the Palace Theatre flourishes today in the downtown center of the largest city in New Hampshire and continues to honor the community that supports it through recognizing local performers who have made good. The Palace Theatre opened its doors on April 9, 1913 with a capacity crowd of 1,100 jamming the new theatre to see a production of A Modern Eve, a 50-person cast musical comedy. Through the roaring ‘20s, the Palace Theatre continued to thrive bringing acts to Manchester via the B.F. Keith/Edward F. Albee vaudeville circuit hosting many artists including: Jimmy Durante, Bob Hope, The Marx Brothers, Red Skelton, Sammy Davis Jr, Milton Berle, Al Jolson, Harry Blackstone, Sr. and Bill Robinson a.k.a. Mr. Bjoangles.

However like most vaudeville houses, the Palace Theatre tried to reinvent itself throughout the years. The community always found a use for the majestic building whether as a movie theatre, a college lecture room, or as a warehouse with meat actually being cut on the once proud stage. It took two men in early 1974 to breathe life back into the theatre. Then Mayor of Manchester, Sylvia Dupuis, worked with local attorney John McLane to save the theatre from being torn down as part of an urban renewal project. Opening Night for the revived Palace Theatre was November 2, 1974 with the Mayor hosting a locally produced variety show in the spirit of the theatre’s vaudeville days called the “Palace Theatre Follies.”

This continued marriage of the professional with the local kicked off the 100 year anniversary celebration with Seth Myers, a former Bedford, NH resident, head writer of Saturday Night Live and the current host of NBC’s “Late Night”. Seth returned to New Hampshire to headline a fundraiser on June 7, 2014 for the Palace Theatre at the behest of his former high school principal, Bob Baines. This celebration of local businesses and friends continued throughout the year-long festivities, and we thank the organizations listed for their continued support of the arts in our community.
